Create a whiteboard in a drawing: Draw a whiteboard rectangle (not a whiteboard object) in your drawing and add the whiteboard effects you want. (video: 1:07 min.) Create a gradation guide and view it with the red arrow (video: 1:22 min.) Additional information about the new changes in AutoCAD can be found on the main AutoCAD website. Markup Import in AutoCAD: With the update, you can import both standard and clipart into your drawing. You can also import clipart directly to your drawing in new Autodesk® Clip Studio. All clipart and standard in Autodesk® Clip Studio™ are now stored in .jpg format in autocad-sketchpad. If you don't have access to Autodesk® Clip Studio™, you can simply use the Import and Export command. To import clipart or standard into your drawing: Open the drawing that you want to import into. Select the type of drawing (e.g. DWG, DXF, etc.) and then choose the appropriate format (e.g. .DWG, .DXF, etc.). Use the Import dialog box to specify where you want to import the drawing. Choose a file format for the drawing from the Format dropdown menu (e.g. .DWG, .DXF, etc.) and select the files you want to import from the Open dialog box. Save your drawing and then close it to import the files. You can also use the Import and Export command to automatically import files into your drawing. To import files using the Import and Export command: Choose the type of drawing you want to import the files into from the dropdown menu. In the Open dialog box, choose the file types you want to import (e.g. .DWG, .DXF, etc.) and then click the Import button. This will open the Import dialog box. Use the Format dropdown menu to choose the drawing format you want to import the files into. Use the Open dialog box to select the drawing or files you want to import.
