The system also allows all players in FIFA 22 to feel fully immersed in the match, with a new “Matchday Motion Reality” engine. This has been developed for FIFA 22 and allows the player to be represented in a virtual simulation of the squad as well as other on-pitch elements and squad members in the matchday squad, resulting in better reproduction of player behaviors. Full details of the new “Matchday Motion Reality” engine have been announced on Friday, November 23, 2016: A system has been added that enables you to experience more realistic on-pitch behavior when playing FIFA 22. The new system, called “Matchday Motion Reality,” will enable all players in the squad to experience their movements on pitch in a match. With Matchday Motion Reality, each player is represented with their own animation and movement, which will display your own player’s movements during play. Additionally, the system includes other elements, such as tackling, ball possession and blocking off, and actions on-pitch that represent players’ behavior when they are playing the match. The Matchday Motion Reality will make your FIFA experience more realistic, as players’ movements and actions will be more closely represented in-game. The system will be limited to Championship Clubs and to the domestic league levels. Breathtaking match coverage Matchday Motion Reality will also use the spectacular camera angles, along with different camera views, to ensure you are presented with the best presentation of the game. FIFA 22 will also feature a new “Matchday Broadcast” system. This system will enable you to experience the authentic match atmosphere and hear the broadcast commentary of the match through the new on-pitch commentary and innovative Headset Virtual Reality. What is “Headset Virtual Reality”? The “Headset Virtual Reality” technique adds a completely unique and immersive experience to the FIFA 22 game. The Headset Virtual Reality allows you to experience football in its purest form: where you are the controller of your team, where your attacks begin and ends, where your opponents are coming and where they are going to start their counterattack. The more you use the Headset Virtual Reality, the more your perception of the game changes. You find yourself as a team manager, as a striker in the attack, as a full back, as a goalkeeper and as a player in your
