Total Control FIFA 22 introduces “Total Control,” a new engine that delivers more precise, authentic player movements. From the way a player is taught to play a ball, to the way he moves when controlling the ball, to his on-pitch positioning and movement, gameplay is more responsive and players feel more connected to the action and the ball. FIFA 22 also adds greatly improved ball physics, ball moves and gameplay responses when players are in “1vs1” situations. New Player Shooting FIFA 22 introduces a brand new “Player Shooting” engine, which uses player characteristics like jump height, body mass, speed, acceleration and turn speed to deliver more accurate player shots. When players shoot, in-game physics is adjusted, to make sure that players are landing on their feet and not on the ground or hitting the goal post. Players are also able to use “Player Shooting” to shoot more accurately into tight spaces, behind defenders or over the top. New Reactivity FIFA 22 introduces new tools to help make FIFA interactive, adding a “Press Interaction” engine that allows players to press “A” to jump, “X” to run and “B” to pass. Add in new celebrations and on-pitch reactions, and this new engine also allows players to make their own interchanges, after a goal is scored, to create new celebrations and animations.

Improved Teamwork FIFA 22 will add four new challenges, “New Defenders”, “Any-Gardner”, “Counter” and “Counter Pressure.” These challenges will encourage teams to play a more possession-based game, and create more pressure on the opposition. Additional match dynamics include: Team Attacking Intelligence In “Team Attacking Intelligence”, players are required to make attacking decisions in “Team Interchange.” This new engine gives players more control over their teammates, as they can switch players on, off, to the ball or to the run by pressing the “C” and “V” buttons. Team Communication In “Team Communication”, players have more options than ever before. They can communicate with teammates as well as receive information from them. Player Chemistry FIFA 22 features a new match
