campaign has sent a statement to Mediaite. “Joe Biden is the most qualified person to become President and we should elect him,” the campaign writes. “Donald Trump does not believe in science, knows the cure for cancer isn’t something that will just ‘hand out,’ and his America First energy plan will make us dependent on countries like Russia and Venezuela, which we already are.” The statement continues: We don’t know a lot about [Paul] Manafort’s business and financial dealings, we know Donald Trump refused to release his taxes, and his new pick for Treasury Secretary is the former CEO of a major bank which foreclosed on thousands of people. Donald Trump won’t disclose his tax returns and his economic plan is a scam, and he’s turning America into Venezuela. Donald Trump cares more about Donald Trump than he does about us. And only Joe Biden can restore the dignity of the presidency and save America from this wild. A spokesman for Sen. Bernie Sanders told Mediaite that the fact that Biden and Sanders are the only remaining Democratic contenders and have a lot of time to make their case is why the former vice president should be the nominee. “But we have a lot of time before the convention and we think it’s most important to make the case that he is the most qualified to be president,” the Sanders spokesman said. The Sanders team also pointed out the Trump campaign’s attacks on Biden’s plan for Social Security privatization, which Sanders’ campaign previously attacked Trump for. — A Bernie Sanders campaign spokesperson pushed back on accusations that Bernie should drop out. “The fact that we’re still here after nearly a year is a testament to the fact that not only are we putting forward the most progressive platform in the history of the Democratic Party, we’re also winning elections,” the spokesman said. “There is absolutely no reason for us to drop out.

Stations "The Endless Empty Stations" is a song by the American rock band Outta Control, which appeared on their 1995 debut album Fat. It peaked at No. 57 on the Billboard Alternative Songs chart and No. 20 on the Mainstream Rock Tracks chart, while the single did not chart. The song is about a drive across the American southwest, and in particular the desert surrounding Los Angeles. "The Endless Empty Stations" compares the endless emptiness, isolation, and bleakness of the station stop's surroundings with the isolated, emotionally empty lives of the passengers who would occasionally pass through. History The song was written by lead vocalist Kyle Stevenson and guitarist-singer Kirk Yates. The guitar introduction part was played by drummer-backing vocalist Kevin Hime who regrets that he didn't do lead vocals. Only Mike Ruskell on bass part from the beginning of the song comes from the original composition of the album "Airforce Ones". It also appeared on the soundtrack for the 1997 film New Waterford Girl directed by Paul Verhoeven. The extended version of the song appears as the last track on the soundtrack; it includes English lyrics, new guitar riffs and the band's version of "New Waterford Girl". The song serves as the b-side of the first US 7" featuring the cover of "The Letter" by Ween.
