Docker Pull team. đŸŽ‰ Pull, like pull-request, is a feature that allows you to access a file on a remote server and store it on the local host without the need for local execution. The pull command is used for this purpose. I have an application that I use to save a file in the background. I get this file via pull. Everything is fine and smooth until I need to add new files. I need to do this without restarting the server.
