Guifications

The settings are applied to the whole application, they will not affect only the Guifications notifications. The options that can be configured from the keyboard are organized by category, the first choice for each category determines the shortcut used to activate them. A description of each category is also included. We would like to provide an explanation of the options, so please bear with us.

Position: This controls the position of the notification box.

The AutoNotify feature can keep you updated about the events that occur on a given Pidgin user. This includes messages, buddy list changes, or user becoming online or offline. You can configure to receive notifications about the events that occur on a specific user, as well as to the events that may happen on a specific network. You can activate or deactivate the service manually or automatically with a timer. You can receive a total of three notification sounds per notification event: you have the ability to save the notification sounds, or choose from the sounds that are listed. Furthermore, you can decide if the notification pops up in the taskbar. When the notification is displayed on the taskbar, the icon of the user associated with the notification will be highlighted, as well as the icon indicating the notification event. You can save notification sounds, with a total of five. Depending on the events that occur, the notification will provide one of the following actions: When a message is received, you will be shown the list of recipients (if the notification is

What's New In?

Guifications allows you to change the appearance of the popup windows by modifying the theme. The package bundles a set of predefined themes that can be used, but you can also download more or create new ones. While Pidgin has its own ways to notify you about occurring events, Guifications allows visual alerting, just like in other popular instant messaging clients. Combining ease of use with highly configurable behavior, it can extend the capabilities of Pidgin, providing an improved user experience. Revision of Guifications for Pidgin 2.10.0 We just released the new version of Pidgin 2.10.0 Guifications Version 2.10.0 is made by Anton Kirchberg
